

Brentside Knowledge Organiser - History

Year5	Topic: Why should be Britain ashamed of slavery?	National curriculum: A study of an aspect or theme in British history that extends pupils' chronological knowledge beyond 1066.
-------	--	---

What I should already know:

I developed an awareness of the past and the ways in which it is similar to and different from the present.

I discussed the lives of significant individuals in Britain's past who have contributed to our nation's achievement.

I observed how punishments have changed over the years.

I know when the English Civil war happened and why; I understand how this has affected the way in which our country is ruled today.

What I should know at the end of the topic:

	I can tell what slavery is.
	I can explain how Britain was involved in the slavery trade.
	I can describe the way slaves were moved from Africa to America.
	I can tell how long the slave traded lasted.
	I can explain who was William Wilberforce and how his work has helped the country to end this trade.

Vocabulary

Slave	A slave is classed as property of another person, with no freedom of choice and no money. That person is 'owned' by someone else.
Slavery	Slavery refers to a condition in which individuals are owned by others, who control where they live and at what they work.
Transatlantic trade	The three-part transatlantic slave trade that involved taking goods from Britain to Africa to exchange for people. Those people were then taken to America to work as slaves and exchanged for goods which were sold in Britain and Europe.
Auction	A public sale where goods are sold to the highest bidder.
Plantation	An estate on which crops, such as coffee, sugar and tobacco are grown.
Middle Passage	The journey across the Atlantic Ocean that captured Africans were taken on, often in unsanitary conditions.
Abolition	The act of abolishing a system so that it is no longer permitted.
William Wilberforce	He was a British politician and a leader of the movement to abolish the slave trade.
